2006 NAPA VALLEY CHARDONNAY

“One good wine”

“There's not much we can do about the economy, so I say we should drink good wine. Forget the cheap stuff; why should we suffer? I recently opened this 2006 Patz & Hall Napa Valley Chardonnay when the economic debacle first hit the fan, and thanks to this exceptional quality wine, I was able to concentrate for just an evening on something other than my 401(k). A rich layer of citrus including lemon zest and a snap of ginger wafted from the glass, and I loved the crisp, refreshing finish. It's perfect to drink now through 2012, but I say why wait.”
